Mosul Engineering week 2022 focuses on environment sustainability

Following the successful delivery of the Mosul Engineering Week last year, UN-Habitat Iraq partnered with the Faculty of Engineering of Mosul University for the 2nd year to hold the 2022 edition under the theme "environmental sustainability". The initiative contributed to the #ClimateAction4Cities Campaign calling for urgent action and effective solutions to address climate change challenges.

The week-long event, which took place at the Grand Theatre Hall in Mosul University, included an Exhibition Fair where companies displayed renewable energy solutions and innovative construction materials for a greener construction industry that will ultimately help to increase the climate resilience of cities and communities in Iraq. Lectures on the first day offered an insight into the plastic recycling industry in Mosul city and sustainable cities in the Middle East. In the afternoon, the UNDP/FFS team presented some of their most striking projects that were recently implemented in Ninewa governorate.

UN-Habitat strongly believes in our collective responsibility towards a more sustainable urban future, starting from how we build better our cities and buildings. And there is no better place to exchange ideas and discuss appropriate solutions as in a university. This initiative was funded by the European Union under the programme "Supporting Recovery and Stability in Iraq through Local Development" implemented by UNDP Iraq in partnership with UN-Habitat.

UN-Habitat, the United Nations Human Settlements Programme, is the focal point for all urbanization and human settlement matters within the UN system and is mandated by the UN General Assembly (beginning in 1975) to promote socially and environmentally sustainable towns and cities. Its mandate is further derived from other internationally agreed upon development goals, including SDG11 of the Sustainable Development Goal, a goal dedicated for urban development, and the New Urban Agenda, an action-oriented document signed by member states which sets global standards of achieving SDG11. UN-Habitat has been active in Iraq since 1996.
