Introduction: Origins of major groups and other stakeholders

- i. The first United Nations Conference on Environment and Development in 1992, also known as the Earth Summit, adopted Agenda 21, which formalized nine sectors of civil society organizations as the main channels through which broad participation of partner organization or stakeholders would be facilitated in UN activities related to sustainable development. These are officially called “Major Groups” and consist of the following sectors: Women; Children and Youth; Indigenous People; Non-Governmental Organizations, also known as civil society organizations; Local Authorities (currently referred to as local and regional governments); Workers and Trade Unions; Business and Industry; Scientific and Technological Community (the group also includes academia, and research); and Farmers.
- ii. In 1996, the Habitat Agenda, adopted at the second United Nations Conference on Human Settlements (Habitat II), recognized three additional stakeholders, namely: Foundations and Philanthropists; Parliamentarians; and Professional Organizations. The Habitat Agenda refers to the major groups and other stakeholders as the Habitat Agenda partners.
- iii. In 2016, the New Urban Agenda, adopted at the third United Nations Conference on Human Settlements (Habitat III), recognized six other stakeholders, namely: Persons with Disabilities; Older Persons; Media; Grassroots and Informal Sector Organizations; Migrants and Refugees; and Volunteer Organizations.
- iv. Currently, UN-Habitat has over 25,000 contacts in its major groups and other stakeholders (hereinafter referred to as stakeholders for consistency purposes) mailing list. These are representatives of over 5,000 organizations registered in 150 countries from all regions. Over 2,000 organizations indicate that their scope of work is at regional and global levels.
- v. The stakeholders support the work of UN-Habitat through the following five main ways: engagement in the meetings of UN-Habitat Governing Bodies; engagement in programme implementation; advisory and technical support; advocacy, especially through the World Urban Campaign and the World Urban Forum; and funding and resource mobilization. This document focuses on stakeholder engagement in the governing bodies.

Stakeholder accreditation

- vi. UN-Habitat uses the two procedures explained below to grant stakeholder accreditation for participation in the meetings of Governing Bodies. Pursuant to UN-Habitat Governing Council Resolution 19/8 of 2003:
 - a. Governing Council Resolution 19/8, part 3 stipulates that accreditation is automatically granted, on request, to non-governmental organizations, including other Habitat Agenda partners (stakeholders) that are in consultative status with the United Nations Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC). The list of all organizations in consultative status with ECOSOC can be found here.
 - b. Governing Council Resolution 19/8, Parts 4 and 5 stipulates that the Executive Director welcome other Habitat Agenda partners to apply for ad hoc accreditation to the UN-Habitat Assembly and provides the required information in that regard. Ten weeks before the UN-Habitat Assembly session, the Executive Director is required to send the list of qualifying stakeholders to Member States for approval on a no-objection basis. Stakeholders that are not objected to by Member States are then granted ad hoc accreditation. To facilitate stakeholder engagement in the subsidiary bodies of the UN-Habitat Assembly, including sessions of the Executive Board and the Committee of Permanent Representatives, ad hoc accreditation is valid for four years after it has been granted.

Stakeholder engagement in the meetings of the Governing Bodies

- vii. The Organization coordinates stakeholder engagement in the UN-Habitat Assembly and its subsidiary bodies.
- viii. In accordance with rule 68 of the Rules of Procedure of the UN-Habitat Assembly, duly accredited representatives of other Habitat Agenda partners may sit as observers at public meetings of the UN-Habitat Assembly and its subsidiary bodies. Upon invitation of the presiding officer of the body concerned and subject to the approval of that body, such observers may make oral statements on matters in which they have special competence.
- ix. Participation in the deliberations of the Governing Bodies is open to: (a) organizations that are granted a 4-year ad hoc accreditation by Member States prior to the UN-Habitat Assembly; and (b) organizations that have consultative status with ECOSOC, provided that their participation in the deliberations is on matters within the expertise or scope of the activities of such organizations.
- x. In 2019, 45 organizations listed here and in the attached Annex I were granted ad hoc accreditation for engagement in the first session of the UN-Habitat Assembly, sessions of the Executive Board and Committee of Permanent Representatives through May 2023. As discussed in part vi. section b above, Member States approve the accreditation of stakeholders on the recommendation of the Executive Director. These 45 organizations have continued to receive invitations and information on sessions of the Executive Board and the Committee of Permanent Representatives.
- xi. In addition, in 2019, guided by the UN-Habitat Assembly Rules of Procedure, 117 organizations that were in consultative status with ECOSOC requested to be granted accreditation automatically as per the UN-Habitat Governing Council Resolution 19/8 part 3. These organizations have also received invitations and information on sessions of the Executive Board and the Committee of Permanent Representatives. Many other additional organizations have continued to request automatic accreditation to participate in the sessions of the above referenced Governing Bodies. To date, the 153 organizations listed in Annex II have been granted automatic accreditation.

UN-Habitat only allows one representative from each accredited organization to attend the sessions and meetings of the Governing Bodies.

- xii. UN-Habitat currently works with four advisory bodies to provide guidance to specific processes such as stakeholder engagement, social inclusion, programme implementation, policy assessment, and outreach activities. The following three bodies have been actively engaged in the meetings of the Governing Bodies through representation of accredited stakeholders.

1. The Global Stakeholder Advisory Group to Enterprise (SAGE) was established by the Executive Director in May 2019 to provide advice to UN-Habitat on strategies, policies, and programmes towards achieving its mandate. The advisory role by the SAGE is guided by the stakeholder collaborative implementation framework and as requested by the Executive Director. The SAGE further established the Global Stakeholder Forum and the Global Stakeholder Consultations as platforms that coordinate stakeholder contributions to respective intergovernmental sessions.

In May 2019, the SAGE established the Global Stakeholder Forum – a two-day gathering that is held prior to the Assembly, to provide an opportunity to all accredited and non-accredited stakeholders to be informed of the governing bodies and agenda items and coordinate their contribution to the UN-Habitat Assembly.

The SAGE established the Global Consultations on Global Commitments in April 2022 to deliberate on the opportunities and challenges of monitoring and reporting on the New Urban Agenda, and urban SDGs. The first consultations were held on 4 – 5 April, where 110 case studies were submitted and an outcome document (a stakeholder declaration to member states) was adopted ahead of the high-level meeting on the progress of the New Urban Agenda. A compendium of the case studies will be released at the second UN-Habitat Assembly session in June 2023. Future consultations will be held prior to sessions of the high-level political forum, and outcome statements will be delivered by appointed stakeholder representatives.

2. The UN-Habitat Youth Advisory Board was established in November 2008 at the fourth session of the World Urban Forum held Nanjing, China in November 2008 and launched at the 22 Second Session of the UN-HABITAT Governing Council in April 2009 by resolution 22/4 of 2009 on strengthening the development of urban young people. The Board advises UN-HABITAT on strategies to engage young people in sustainable urbanization and urban development, and may represent youth in local, national and international forums. The Board also seeks to strengthen youth participation and advocacy in youth-led initiatives.

3. AGGI – Advisory Group on Gender Issues (AGGI) was formed in 2012 at the sixth session of the World Urban Forum in Naples as an initiative of the Huairou Commission, UN Habitat, and Norway, to support gender mainstreaming and gender equality across all levels of UN-Habitat. AGGI advances women’s empowerment and gender equality in sustainable urban development. AGGI was established by the was established following the Governing Council \(GC\) resolution 23/1 on Gender equality and empowerment of women in sustainable urban development.

xiii. UN-Habitat has established 15 issue-based networks that make use of partner expertise in normative and operational activities and programme delivery. Among these 15 networks, depicted below, the Habitat Professionals Forum, and the World Urban Campaign have been actively engaged in the meetings of the governing bodies:

1. Cities and Climate Change Initiative
2. Gender Equality Network
3. Global Alliance of Cities in Crisis
4. Global Housing Strategy Platform
5. Global Land Tool Network (GLTN)
6. Global Network on Energy
7. Global Network on National Urban Policies
8. Global Network on Safer Cities
9. Global Network for Sustainable Housing
10. Global Network of Urban Planning and Design Labs
11. Global Water Operations Partnerships
12. Habitat Professional Forum
13. UNI, Habitat’s Partnership with Universities Worldwide
14. World Urban Campaign
15. Slums and Informal Settlements Network (SISnet)

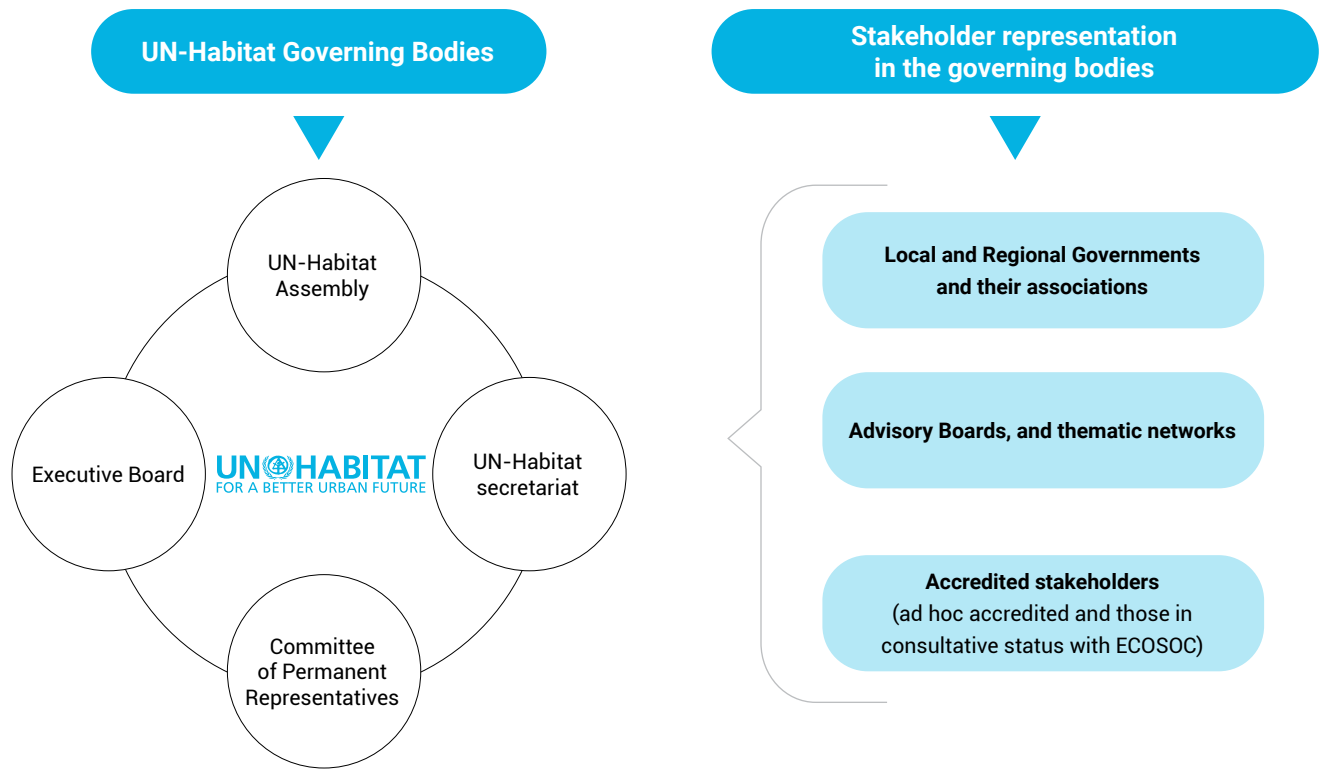

Engagement of local and regional governments

- xiv. Rule 67 of the Rules of Procedure of the UN-Habitat Assembly guides on engagement of local authorities in the UN-Habitat Assembly and its intersessional organs.
- xv. Duly accredited representatives of local authorities, invited by the Executive Director and in consultation with their respective Governments, where requested, or representing national or international associations or organizations recognized by the United Nations, may participate as observers at public meetings, and in the deliberations of the UN-Habitat Assembly and its intersessional organs.
