

Expression of Interest

Global Observance of World Habitat Day 2026

Introduction

UN-Habitat is inviting countries to express their interest in hosting the Global Observance of World Habitat Day in 2026.

Background

World Habitat Day (WHD) was established in 1985 by General Assembly resolution 40/202 and first celebrated in 1986. The purpose of World Habitat Day is to reflect on the state of our towns and cities, and on the basic right of all to adequate shelter. It is celebrated on the first Monday of October each year.

World Habitat Day focuses on inspiring all levels of governments and other stakeholders to raise international awareness of urbanization trends, challenges, visions and sustainable solutions or best practices and to remind the world that we all have the power and the responsibility to shape the future of our cities and towns with better living environments and quality of life. This includes action to advance the New Urban Agenda and the urban dimensions of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), particularly SDG11 which aims to make cities and human settlements safe, inclusive, resilient, and sustainable.

UN-Habitat Scroll of Honour Award

A major highlight of World Habitat Day is the presentation of the UN-Habitat Scroll of Honour award to recognize best urban practices. Launched in 1989, the UN-Habitat Scroll of Honour Award is one of the most prestigious human settlements awards in the world. It celebrates initiatives which have made outstanding contributions such as actions to improve affordable housing and equitable access to basic services, climate change mitigation initiatives, and those to provide better livelihoods for the vulnerable including the displaced and people living in poverty in cities, towns and human settlements. The award is given to a maximum of five winners each year, following a call for nominations by UN-Habitat.

In addition to the UN-Habitat Scroll of Honour Award, the host is encouraged to use the occasion of the Global Observance of World Habitat Day in 2026, to recognize best urban practices and promote significant new urban policies, programmes and initiatives towards sustainable urbanization in the country.

Theme

Each year a particular theme is selected by UN-Habitat to highlight an aspect of sustainable urbanization as well as to encourage the sharing of global and local actions and innovations by partners to improve the quality of lives in urban areas and human settlements. The host is encouraged to use the occasion of the Global Observance of World Habitat Day to recognize best urban practices and promote significant new urban policies, programmes and initiatives towards sustainable urbanization in the country.

While urban communities around the world are encouraged to celebrate World Habitat Day using the Urban October, there is a particular focus on the theme for national, local and city celebrations.

The topic of the Global Observance of World Habitat Day 2026 will be related to “Adequate Housing for All”. The global housing crisis whereby an estimated 2.8 billion people face various forms of housing inadequacy, in which close to 1.1 billion reside in slums and informal settlements, calls for urgent and scaled action at all levels. World Habitat Day will consider how to realize the ambition of ensuring access to adequate housing and basic services for all as a corner stone of achieving the SDGs and the New Urban Agenda.

Objective

World Habitat Day aims to raise international awareness of urbanization trends, challenges, visions and sustainable solutions in urban development. It promotes international cooperation and contributes to global efforts to build equitable, prosperous sustainable, inclusive cities that provide their communities with better living environments and quality of life and to remind the world that we all have the power and the responsibility to shape the future of our cities and towns.

Participation in the Global Observance

World Habitat Day is celebrated with high level attendance from the international community, United Nations agencies, host country, theme specialists and other partners. UN-Habitat will take the lead in inviting governments and in mobilizing the United Nations system at high level, international organizations, civil society, academics and other relevant stakeholders to attend the Global Observance of World Habitat Day in 2026. The host city/country will take the lead in inviting governments at high level, special guests, stakeholders and experts in the region, as well as ministers and mayors. The general public in the city, country and globally will be encouraged to get involved, including through global platforms, social media and live streaming.

More information on past World Habitat Day Observations is available on the Urban October website.

Activities and Programme

Activities related to the Global Observance of World Habitat Day will be developed in line with available human and financial resources from the voluntary contribution by the host. The host country is encouraged to provide examples of good practice within the host country and cities on issues relating to the themes of day during the thematic discussion after the high-level opening ceremony. A programme will be jointly developed with the host. UN-Habitat will provide branded online advocacy tools and kits to support mobilization of partners and maximize outreach. Details of planned activities taking place around the world will be uploaded by UN-Habitat on the Urban October website, social media sites and the host will be encouraged to publicize their activities widely.

Financial contribution

To host the Global Observance of World Habitat Day in 2026, the host country is required to provide a minimum cash contribution of USD 500,000 (United States Dollars Five Hundred Thousand)

The cash contribution is used for planning, mobilizing stakeholders, outreach activities, website, social media, design, communication, editing, programme development, operations support, live streaming on UN Web TV and Zoom connection, reporting, and evaluation as well as for the participation of UN-Habitat and other UN staff, international experts, high-level guest and delegates from least developed countries and the UN-Habitat Scroll of Honour Award winners. Ultimately it supports the overall advocacy and communication within the framework of Urban October.

Additionally, the host is required to provide an in-kind contribution of the venue with its facilities; exhibition space; IT, Internet and other services; security within the city, around and within the venue; interpretation; local transport, operational and logistical needs with respective human resources (for more information, see Annex 1).
