Unlocking Housing Solutions through National Urban Policies

23 October 2025 | 12:30–13:30 | Conference Room 3, UNON, Nairobi

The Executive Director of UN-Habitat in collaboration with the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) cordially invites you to a special event to be held during the Second Session of the Intergovernmental Expert Working Group (OEWG) on Housing.

About the Event

Housing is a cornerstone of sustainable urban development—closely tied to resilience, equity, climate adaptation, and quality of life. Yet millions still live in inadequate housing conditions worldwide.

This special event will explore how National Urban Policies (NUPs) are driving housing reform and delivery globally, drawing from insights of the Global State of National Urban Policy 2024 report (GSNUP3) by UN-Habitat and OECD.

Key Highlights

- » Presentation of key findings from GSNUP3 on housing integration within NUPs.
- » Reflections from Member States on housing experiences and innovations.
- » A joint discussion on unlocking policy solutions to advance affordable, adequate, and climate-resilient housing for all.

Join us for this engaging dialogue on how NUPs can unlock practical solutions to today's housing challenges and accelerate progress toward SDG 11.1.
